Great resource and reading! Well put together all around with information very accessible and great images with text to help describe processes etc. Love this and am using it for our text in Relief Printmaking this year. Thank you Merlyn Chesterton! Another jewel for us printmakers, teachers, collectors, and everyone else.

Beautiful! Highly recommended for anyone with even a passing interest in the art of woodblock print making. The authors take the reader step by step through the process, augmenting along the way with an abundance of helpful photos and finished prints.

Making Wood Block Prints by Merlyn Chesterman and Rod Nelson is an intriguing invitation for the uninitiated to discover the centuries old practice of wood block printmaking. Its practical presentation of materials lists, tables, definitions and pictorial examples introduce the reader to the process without overwhelming with too much text or detail. The explanations and descriptions throughout are interesting and encouraging for both the beginner and the more experienced artisan. Just reviewing the diverse range of styles and subjects chosen for the gallery in the book's appendix is enough to inspire the reader to dive into the process. Whether you are contemplating your first print making attempt, or are expanding your range of art appreciation to a new art form, this gem of a book will provide you with hours of enjoyment.

Great book for beginners and professional printmakers. The author has a thorough knowledge of the medium. And I feel it's one book I'll read again. Enjoyed it thoroughly! Especially the art!
